

KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION AFTER RED HOOK PARTY

Touring Car Hits Sedan, Causing One Death and Injuring Three Men.

One man was killed and three were injured early to-day when a seven-passenger touring car crashed into a sedan on Lorraine Street, one hundred feet west of Court Street, Brooklyn.

The man killed was James McNulty, thirty years old, of No. 1429 East 27th Street, Brooklyn. The windshield of the sedan was driven through his head and he was crushed under the car.

Albert Bernard, twenty-one years old, of No. 573 Glenmore Avenue, suffered a possible fracture of the skull and scalp lacerations. Walter McCloskey, twenty-three, a sailor on the U. S. S. North Dakota, who gave his address as the Navy Yard Y. M. C. A., was cut about the head. Both were taken to the Holy Family Hospital.

Augustus L. Daly, twenty-nine, of No. 126 East 25th Street, Brooklyn, was cut on the head. He was treated at the Hamilton Avenue Police Station. All were in the sedan. Joseph M. Smith of No. 615 Prospect Avenue, the driver, was not hurt.

Police learned from the injured men that the occupants of the sedan had been gathered up at a party in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn. Some were strangers to the others. Smith, the driver of the sedan, which was owned by Daly, told the police that he saw the blinding flash of two headlights coming behind him and before he could get out of the way his car was struck in the rear and overturned against the curb. The car which hit him was a blue Cole touring machine with only the driver in it. The driver kept on north on Lorraine Street and was soon out of sight. The number was not made out, but Smith was able to give a good description of the Cole.

FOUR BADLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH ON RICHMOND CURVE

Two Sisters and Escort Suffer Fractured Limbs—All in Hospital.

Two young sisters, and two young men were badly hurt shortly after eight o'clock to-day in a head-on collision of automobiles owned and operated by the latter at Rockland Avenue and Willowbrook Road, New Springville, Staten Island. All were taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, West Brighton, three with fractured limbs.

The injured are Gertrude Dyer, twenty, No. 19 Monroe Avenue, Tompkinsville, telephone operator, fractured arm and contusions of the face and body; Marion Dyer, seventeen, also a telephone operator of the same address, fractured arm and scalp wounds; David Berlich, eighteen, No. 12 Cliford's Place, Great Kills, fractured leg, and Fred Silverman, twenty-two, No. 121 First Avenue, New Brighton, contusions of the face and body.

The girls were in Silverman's machine and Berlich was in his car alone. At Willowbrook Road there is a deep curve and neither driver noticed the approach of the other until too late. Silverman and the sisters were thrown to the street and the car crashed against a fence. Berlich kept his seat and stopped his machine, after which he got word to a policeman in a telephone booth a quarter of a mile away and an ambulance was summoned. Both cars were badly damaged.
